About the Cooperative Research Centres Program

The Cooperative Research Centres (CRC) Program aims to improve the competitiveness, productivity and sustainability of Australian industries, especially where Australia has a competitive strength, and in line with government priorities. The Program will foster high quality research to solve industry-identified problems through industry-led and outcome-focused collaborative research partnerships between industry entities and research organisations. The Program aims to encourage and facilitate small and medium enterprise (SME) participation in collaborative research.

Compliant CRC applications are considered in two stages on merit and against all other CRC applications at each stage. At stage one the applicant provides a statement of claims against the merit criteria and a description of the proposed research programs and submits partner declarations. Successful stage one applicants are invited to submit a stage two application. The stage two process requires the applicant to provide a written application and present their CRC proposal at an interview with the CRC Advisory Committee.

Your stage two application involves providing:

- a response to address feedback from the CRC Advisory Committee on your stage one application. This includes addressing the Committee's feedback on your responses to the assessment criteria and detailing any changes between your stage one and stage two applications
- comprehensive detail of the intended project activities and research milestones (milestone spreadsheet attachment)
- a comprehensive budget including project partner contributions (Financial Spreadsheet attachment)
- a completed Impact Tool (separate SmartForm)
- details of key staff including roles, responsibilities and experience.

Completing an application provides no assurance or guarantee of receiving funding assistance.

Before you apply

Please read and understand the CRC grant opportunity guidelines and the grant agreement template before completing an application in order to understand the application and assessment process. Further information on the program and how to apply can be found in the Frequently Asked Questions and CRC factsheets.

Applicants should clearly address all matters raised in the feedback provided by the Committee on the stage one application. Applicants have the opportunity in this stage two process to further demonstrate the need for funding.

Partners and Third Parties

Additional/Updated Partners

A CRC must have among its partners at least one Australian industry entity and one Australian research organisation. This is a minimum requirement.

Provide details of any additional partners since stage one. If stage one partners have had significant changes in contributions also include them here. The value of all partner contributions are to be provided in the Financial Data Spreadsheet. For all partners included here you must attach matching Partner Declarations.

Do not copy details of partners provided in stage one if they have not changed. Partner Declarations from stage one do not need to be reattached. If you have removed partners since stage one please indicate which partners have been removed in your response to feedback and changes since stage one.

Please enter the ABN or ACN of partners and click the 'Validate' button to retrieve your registration details.

If a partner does not have an ABN, enter their detail in the 'Partners without an ABN' section.

The size of the partner is defined as the number of employees: small is less than 20 employees; medium is 20 or more employees (but less than 200 employees); and large is 200 or more employees.

Partners are required to contribute total cash and in-kind resources at least equal to the grant funding sought. Each partner is required to make contributions to the CRC and must provide a completed Partner Declaration to be attached to the application (refer to business.gov.au for the template). The Partner Declarations must be submitted in the format provided and not amended in any way.

The CRC budget and partner contributions must be entered in the Financial Data Spreadsheet mandatory attachment. The partner contributions specified in the Financial Data Spreadsheet must match the partner contributions specified in the signed Partner Declaration.

Partner cash contributions are cash monies provided by project partners to a CRC Grant for the purposes of undertaking the agreed CRC project.

In-kind contributions are the non-cash contributions. These can include labour contributions and facilities, equipment and services provided by project partners to the project. In order for in-kind contributions to account towards your total eligible grant project value, they must directly relate to eligible activities or eligible special purpose activities.

In-kind contributions may include:

- salaries and on-costs for personnel directly employed for the project activities. Australian Government funds awarded (or contracted) to researchers employed by project partners, or to the project partners themselves, for specific projects cannot be claimed as eligible expenditure. You must use the labour calculations outlined in appendix C of the grant opportunity guidelines.
- facilities, equipment and services provided by a project partner to the project from its own resources. We do not prescribe a specific formula to determine the value of these contributions. You need to determine the value of these contributions. They must be realistic, justifiable and valued proportionally to their use on the project. For example you should calculate the in-kind contribution of a capital item by the running costs and the depreciation of the item.

Examples of in-kind contributions include:

- If a resource has an annual depreciation value of $100,000 and the project was using 10% of the resource's capacity then the resource could be valued at $10,000 per year.
- If the fee for usage was $500 per use and the project was receiving 100 usages per year at no cost, the value of the resource could be valued at $50,000 per year.
- If your project receives office space as an in-kind contribution from a partner, you should value the contribution at the amount it would otherwise cost to rent equivalent office space.

Not all the partner's share of funding needs to be available at the time of application. However, the partners must be able to match the grant progressively at the rate eligible expenditure is to be incurred on the project and be able to fund ineligible expenditure if required.
